

- Elephants are the largest land mammals
- Wild elephants live in families called herds – herds are made up of female elephants
- The only males in these herds are the young calves
- The leader of the herd is usually the oldest female – she is called the Matriarch
- To drink, elephants suck water up into their trunk and spray it into their mouths

